#FollowTheStar this Christmas

The Church of England has launched its campaign for Christmas 2018, and it's called #FollowTheStar.

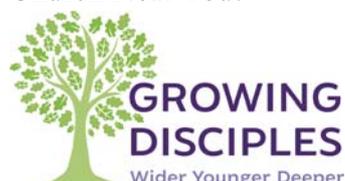

A range of resources for churches, families and schools have been provided to help people celebrate the season and to share the good news of Jesus' birth.

The main aim of #FollowTheStar is to encourage people into a local church service or event. Here are five ways in which your church can get involved:

Order a booklet called A Journey Through the 12 Days of Christmas. It has been written by The Revd Dr Isabelle Hamley and features a welcome from the Archbishops of Canterbury and York. The booklets are available individually and in bulk-savings packs for congregations and visitors.

Download and buy posters, logos and other resources. In addition, digital resources can be found on the CofE website.

Update your church page on A Church Near You!

The site receives more than 10 million page views each year and 50% more services and events were listed last year than the year before. Make sure services are tagged with 'FollowTheStar' as well as 'Christmas', 'mince pies', 'mulled wine', 'Advent' and 'Christmas carols' as appropriate.

Be a 'star church' by displaying stars prominently. The bigger and more visible the better. If possible, illuminate at night and share a photo on social media on Friday 21st December to be part of the 'Night of the Stars'. More details will follow on this.

Share Christmas videos and social media posts through church accounts, especially an interactive family Advent calendar that is being produced.

The campaign is the result of collaboration across Church House, Lambeth Palace, Bishopthorpe Palace, diocesan

Building friendships in the barn

Having met initially in a marquee in the paddock behind the home of Pioneer Minister, the Revd Alison Jones', the Potting Shed Church now have the use of a large barn near Caunton, which was offered by a local farmer.

The barn is very rustic with hay bales forming a stage, and café style tables and chairs; there is plenty of space on Sundays for family activities, worship and teaching with the ethos 'We are Church' . . . and Alison adds that events which aren't services - providing the opportunity to invite people - have brought 'so much joy and fun'.

Such an event was their anniversary celebration hog roast and barn dance in the barn on 7th September which was also a fund-raiser for Keframa School in Uganda. A drumming workshop, Father's Day, World Cup Day and Family Fun Day have also been resounding successes.

The Potting Shed Church have trialled three sessions of a pre-school group over the summer from May to July for carers, mums etc from 9.30am to 11am, called Little Seedlings. "It's not just toys and coffee," explains Alison. "There's a weekly theme based around a Bible story. We want to love and care for mums and carers. We're now running them fortnightly and it's a real success. These aren't church goers – we are serving the community and helping to build friendships - and we hope they will come to a service at some point. We may also run a parenting course.

"God is very much in this project. It's such an improbable thing: a barn in the middle of nowhere. It's based on word of mouth, building relationships, meeting people where they are and responding accordingly."

The age range is from one to 88 and as a rural church that's very unusual; nearly a third of the congregation are children.

"It's hard to share what's happening in people's lives; we can't see it but there is deep stuff going on and God is definitely at work.. but it takes time and nurturing to bear fruit."

New ACNY website could save time and money

Phase two of the website A Church Near You has been launched and now includes news and notices sections, page analytics and the ability to switch domains so churches can use their ACNY pages as their main website.

Churches looking to update their website are advised to check out the latest version of ACNY – it could save them time and money.

All ACNY editors should now have details of the latest updates. There are a number of reasons why churches should be keeping their A Church Near You page up to date:

- The site receives around 10 million page views a year with 50% more traffic in December 2017 compared to December 2016
- Many of these visitors are coming to ACNY for the first time, 82% in fact. A lot of the enquiries churches receive through the site are for weddings and christenings
- People regularly visit A Church Near You first as it often appears top in search results
- A Church Near You is free to use and by using it as your website you can free up money for other church projects
- The site meets modern security and accessibility standards, saving churches lots of time and resource
- There are plans to regularly add new features and functionality
- By using tags provided, you are highlighting the good work of your church nationally.

If your church hasn't filled in its A Church Near You page yet, you can find out how to do it at the helpdesk:

Bishop spends night outdoors to help the homeless

Bishop Tony Porter spent a cold and wet October night sleeping outdoors to raise money for the homeless as part of the CEO Sleepout at Meadow Lane.

He was joined by other bosses and community leaders who were sponsored to sleep out and together and raised more than £43,000 through sponsorship to support Notts-based charities Emmanuel House and The Friary.

Bishop Tony, whose generous supporters have so far raised over £2,000, said: "This is the third time I have spent a horrible night in the cold but I cannot just walk by on the other side when there are people in Nottingham who are enduring this every night."

CEO Sleepout is a charity set up to fight homelessness and poverty; it encourages people from business communities in cities across the country to sleep out and raise money from their contacts.

Hot food was provided by the Eden Softplay enterprise which is based at St Saviour's Church in The Meadows, Nottingham.

Resources available to fight modern slavery

The Clewer Initiative, the Church's campaign to end modern slavery, urged people to get involved with Anti Slavery Day on Thursday 18th October.

Locally, working in partnership, the Diocese, Salvation Army, Police Commissioner/ PCC, University of Nottingham and Nottingham Citizens hosted a business engagement event on the 18th at 6.30 pm in The Council House, with speaker Shayne Tyler.

Clewer have put together a range of activities and resources that people can use to fight the scourge of slavery – go to www.theclewerinitiative.org to get involved and find resources.

The work and profile of combatting Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking continues to grow locally and nationally (with significant increase in successful prosecutions) through different partnerships the Diocese is involved with.

For example, the safe car wash app was launched earlier this year. There have been over 7,000 downloads leading to almost 1,900 reports. As a result, the modern slavery helpline has opened 11 cases, featuring 69 potential victims.

If you want to download the app you can find it in the App Store or Google play. Then, when you are having your car washed, use the app to complete a short survey about the working conditions at the car wash. If there is a high likelihood that modern slavery is occurring you will be asked to report your concerns anonymously to the Modern Slavery Helpline.

Partnerships Officer Liam O'Boyle is working with the Salvation Army locally on a community project for survivors and they have linked up with the Survivor Alliance <https://survivoralliance.org/about/>

The Survivor Alliance, a not-for-profit organisation that helps survivors of slavery, has been developed in partnership with The University of Nottingham's Rights Lab.

There is a great opportunity to offer practical help by donating items for gift bags for survivors.

The Survivor Alliance are looking for any of the following:

- Visa gift vouchers that can be spent anywhere
- Grocery vouchers
- Toy vouchers (kids vary in age from 8 - 16, all genders)
- Scarves and/or warm hats
- Tea, coffee, hot chocolate
- Biscuits or other baked goods that will last 2 weeks
- Umbrella
- Warm socks
- Flask/thermos for keeping drinks warm
- Boots vouchers for toiletries
- SIM card top-ups

Retreatants see how the Diocese of Jerusalem conveys the Christian message

A group from Southwell & Nottingham have been on retreat in the Holy Land. David Lane, Holy Land link contact outlines highlights of the visit.

During the retreat the group spent an hour each day in prayer and reflection, including the retreatants' personal take away from each day reflecting on an incident, story or encounter, incorporating theological and spiritual guiding principles and practices.

Having returned home retreatants are each compiling short papers integrating pre-retreat expectations, knowledge, signs of personal transformation and commitments. The papers will be used to write a final report to be shared with both diocesan bishops and partnership committees. It is hoped, too, that the retreatants will present within deaneries.

After the first day (See August issue of Nifty Notes) the group visited Jerusalem, experiencing the check-point at Kalandia. At the Princess Basma Centre on the Mount of Olives, which provides comprehensive rehabilitation for children with disabilities and treats children with cerebral palsy, Down's syndrome, head injuries, osteoporosis, neuromuscular diseases, burns learning difficulties/disabilities ADHD, the group heard of its ministry and its limitations.

The day continued with visits to the Mount of Olives and Stations of the Cross on the Via Delarosa to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. At Christ Anglican Church in the Old City the group heard of CMJ's mission in the Holy Land, both past and present. At St George's Cathedral, the group met with Archbishop Suheil Dawani and later with Dean Hosam Naoum to learn of the ministry of St George's Cathedral.

In Bethlehem the group heard from Revd Dr Munther Ishaq on the future of Christianity in the Holy Land before visiting the Aida Refugee Camp. At Beit Sahour (Shepherd's Field) Jeries Khoury spoke about settlements as an obstacle to peace and a challenge for the two-state solution.

After visiting churches in Tiberius the group spent the rest of the day with Fr Fuad Dagher in Shefa Amre looking at ministry in Galilee, its challenges and potentials. From overnight by the Sea of Galilee the group spent a full day in Nazareth with Fr Nael Abu Rahmoun considering challenges facing the youth, Fr Samuel Barhoum studying church schools in Israel and their problems and Fr Hanna Daleh the difficulties facing clergy and their families in Israel/Palestine.

Sunday was spent worshipping with different communities in the West Bank, enjoying some free time and savouring a traditional Palestinian-Jordanian dinner. The next day was equally hectic visiting Jacobs Well in Nablus, as well as St. Philip's Episcopal Church, Mount Gerizim and the Samaritan Museum with a presentation on the Samaritan Community from the High Priest. At St. Luke's Hospital the group heard from Dr Walid Kerreh on the ministry of healing before setting off to Zababdeh to visit the Penman Clinic, meet with Fr Salim Dawani, question St. Matthew's Youth Group and have dinner with St. Matthew's Community.

On the final day the group visited the Arafat Museum before meeting for two hours of reflections, suggestions and possibilities for the future of partnerships.

Trying to make sense of the End of the World:

How should we respond to forecasts of the end of the world and a coming apocalypse? Will there be a ‘tribulation’ and a ‘rapture’? And what does the Bible really say about the end of the world and the return of Jesus?

These questions keep swirling around—but it is not always easy to find sensible answers.

A study morning led by the Revd Dr Ian Paul, will look at the teaching of Jesus, Paul and others in the New Testament to see what they really thought, including:

- What did people believe in New Testament times?
- How did Jesus teaching change that?
- How do we make sense of difficult passages, like Mark 13, Matt 24 and 1 Thess 4?
- What are the ‘rapture’ and the ‘tribulation’ and are they in the Bible?
- What is the meaning of the millennium?
- How is the modern State of Israel connected with the NT?

- How should we respond to predictions of Jesus’ return?

It turns out that expectation of ‘the end’ was important to the first followers of Jesus—but in ways very different from what might be found in the latest Hollywood blockbuster.

As Advent approaches, with its exploration of the theme of Christian hope, this is a great time to sort out the understanding of this important New Testament idea.

The study morning runs at Christ Church, Chilwell from 10am to 1pm on Saturday 10th November, with coffee available from 9.30am.

Tickets are available at £9.50 per head for the morning including refreshments; click <https://goo.gl/xr83ZZ> to start ordering.

OF SOUTHWELL & NOTTINGHAM AND CUF

A conference for the laity

Members of the laity in Southwell & Nottingham are invited to a conference called Setting God's People Free on 17th November in the Minster School, Southwell.

The Archbishops' Council's report of the same name will be the centre of discussion and learning. The report highlights the need to empower, liberate and enable the 98% of the Church of England who are not ordained, to set them free for fruitful, faithful mission and ministry.

The guest speaker is Alison Coulter, one of the authors of the report, who will speak about why it was written, why it is important for it to be implemented and what are we doing about it. Then after lunch (provided) there will be a series of workshops which will help people to explore aspects of the report's ambitious hopes for the future of the church. There will be the opportunity for people to seek God's will for them in a variety of way.
