Some things will never be the same again

As we move further into a 'next phase' living with the impact of the coronavirus, a certain amount of discussion is taking place about what in our lives (and our churches) will never return to the way it was before.

What the pandemic has done, especially through the period of lockdown, is to make us rethink many of the things we may have taken for granted: NHS, Care Homes, key-workers, members of our congregations with technical skills, the power of good neighbourliness, home delivery drivers, strong Wi-Fi connection, a garden or outdoor space, the countryside, birdsong, good home cooking. You can add to the list.

The pandemic has also caused us to rethink patterns of life and ask some searching questions about what really matters. Fairly close to the top of everyone's list is 'relationships', whether accentuated by the painful absence of family or friends we have not been able to see in person or the deeper appreciation of someone we have been with more closely and intensely than ever before. I realise that for some the absence has been unbearably painful and for others the close proximity has been oppressive.

Nearly every organisation is now asking the question: what could and should be different with the restrictions gradually being eased. It is a good conversation to have with those you share life with. But this should also include every local church.

What do we go back to doing as we did before?

What may need to stop altogether?

What do we need to start doing differently or begin doing for the first time?

The crisis we are living through is not presenting completely new and totally unforeseen challenges so much as it is accelerating the change that was already anticipated or under way. Most churches will have things in response to all three questions.

Some PCCs and congregations will already be having these conversations. Depending on your context and personality these things can be highly energising or fill you with anxiety – many of us will feel both!

At our Diocesan Synod gathering online in April I shared the words of a former US General, Wayne Downing, who once led Special Operations Forces. He said, “Crisis effects timing. An unexpected event can create chaos which, by definition, cannot be controlled. Yet so many of us in a chaotic situation try to gain control.

I have always felt that the way to handle this is to get some distance from the chaos, zone out for a bit and try to pick up what is going on... If there is a crisis, the chaotic situation often times offers you not only disadvantages, which is what we tend to focus on, but also tremendous advantages to do things that you couldn't do in any other way.”

I really do believe that amidst all the challenges we are facing – suppressing the virus, economic shock, emotional and mental health – there are tremendous opportunities for churches to make changes that can be transformational in the ministry we share growing disciples as we continue to reach wider, younger and deeper. There is no need to have all the answers to all the questions straight away, though equally there is no reason to hold back when the change needed is clear. Interesting, Downing also says: “I always want more information but waiting can also mean disaster. A 75% plan well executed now is always better than a 99% plan executed an hour too late.”

We must continue to attend to what God is doing, seek his power and wisdom through prayer, and learn all we can from one another. In a recent ‘virtual’ tea party with retired clergy, Bishop John Finney reminded us that although we may not know what lies ahead of us, we know who is holding us and leading us into the future, our Lord Jesus Christ who is the head of his Church. It is for this reason alone that I am confident that the churches of this diocese can rise to the challenges before us and engage in transformational change that will enable us to reach many more people of all ages and ethnicities with the gospel.

Over these next few weeks we will be rightly focused on how to begin hosting services in our church buildings safely, observing all the government and Church of England guidelines. We will also be seeking to maintain other ministry on-line for some time to come. None of this will be easy and every setting in the diocese is different. Let us move forward purposefully, yet with due care.

Please continue to be patient with one another. We will not always get things right and we will not always agree on the how and when. Bishops, archdeacons, area dean and others are here to support you. If it continues to feel rather chaotic living through these times then I direct us again to the words of a bishop in a different time of global crisis a hundred years ago.

‘There is no situation so chaotic that God cannot from that situation create something that is surpassingly good. He did it at creation. He did it at the cross. He is doing it today.’

Bishop Handley Moule of Durham

I conclude with a heartfelt thank you for all that you are doing. Also with a warm welcome to the new Bishop of Sherwood (Designate) Andy Emerton and our newly licensed Lay Workers (who will be ordained deacon in September) who begin their ministry with us this week.

With every blessing,

Bishop Paul

Andy Emerton licensed as the Bishop of Sherwood (designate)

The Diocese of Southwell & Nottingham welcomed the new Bishop of Sherwood (designate), the Revd Dr Andrew Emerton in a special, online licensing service on 1st July, as he returned to the Midlands to take up his role, having started life in Leicester and Stafford.

Bishop of Sherwood (designate), the Revd Dr Andrew Emerton shared: “I’m really excited at having the opportunity to serve right across Nottinghamshire in all its diversity.

“I am passionate about developing leaders who are able to offer healthy and effective leadership for the long haul, making a real difference on the ground to the communities they serve, whether within or outside the church”

Andy introduced himself to the Diocese, via a Facebook Live event <https://www.facebook.com/SouthwellandNottingham/live>

Prayer for Andy Emerton on his licensing as Bishop of Sherwood (designate)

*O God, the creator and sustainer of all things,
In this County in which the Major Oak resides,
We pray that Andy and his family will establish deep roots of friendship,
know your provision in every season,
abide in you and bear much fruit.
We ask that through Andy’s ministry alongside us
We will see new shoots of growth as people come to faith in you,
Oaks of righteousness that bring hope to our communities, And leaves of healing extending to all the nations represented in our diocese,
To your praise and glory,*

Amen

Opening the Doors

Many church buildings are now beginning to reopen, firstly for individual prayer and funerals, and then for weddings and for regular gathered worship.

Opening the Doors is the name of a simple set of resources that churches can take and make their own as and when it is appropriate for them to do so. They include:

- Posters and invitations, digital and hard copy, that churches can use to invite the parish to worship
- Liturgical resources, provided by the Liturgical Commission, as well as some others produced by Fresh Expressions practitioners as their contribution
- Webinars from the Digital and Evangelism and Discipleship teams

In due course, resources and guidance to help churches prepare for Advent and Christmas

Eight women and men licensed as Lay Workers

Candidates who were due to be ordained deacon last weekend were welcomed and licensed online by Bishop Paul as Lay Workers on Monday 6th July, as they began this new season of their ministry before the autumn.

The following candidates were presented, by the Revd Craig Hunt, Diocesan Director of Ordinands, to be admitted and licensed as Lay Workers.

Fran Finn serving in the Benefice of Nottingham, St. Nicholas; Anna Clarke serving in the Benefice of Aspley; Lee

Gordon serving in the Benefice of Selston with Westwood; Esther Hutchinson serving in the Benefice of Clifton; Jess Lane serving in the Benefices of Aspley and Bilborough with Strelley; Jo Lees-Robinson serving with Trinity Church, Nottingham; Pippa Scott serving in the Benefice of Mansfield, St Peter & St Paul and Mansfield, St Mark and Tom Tuck serving in the Benefice of Stapleford.

In a video made specially for last weekend. Bishop Paul welcomed these Lay Workers and there is the opportunity to meet them. Andy Emerton, himself newly licensed as the Bishop of Sherwood (designate), also offered a welcome and a reflection on Matthew 11:25-30, responding to the question of how we can find 'rest for our souls' in these challenging and uncertain times.

This Petertide weekend is traditionally when the Bishop ordains those called to be deacons and priests in Southwell Minster, to serve across our diocese. As necessitated by Coronavirus, ordinations have now been re-scheduled and it is hoped these will take place in Michaelmas, at the end of September.

News from the Minster

The Cathedral opened its door again for public worship on Sunday 5th July. There are two Sunday services presently - 10am Cathedral Eucharist and 3pm Evening Prayer (BCP). From Monday 13 July we are starting a new daily (Monday to Saturday) service of Holy Communion at 1.15pm. All services are in the nave to allow for generous social distancing and good ventilation. There is an online and phone booking system, but it is not essential for most services. Everyone will be made welcome and we look forward to seeing you. Over the summer weeks the Minster will open during the reduced hours 11am – 3pm.

The Leaves Project (supported by NLHF) is well underway. The quire roof scaffolding will be removed by the end of July. The Chapter House is closed while conservation work encompassing interpretation and the introduction of heating and lighting continues. Development of the Gardens of the Archbishop's Palace starts in the autumn and we expect this exciting project to be completed by May 2021. Check for details for everything at the Cathedral on the website: www.southwellminster.org

The Cathedral shop has reopened (Tuesday to Saturday 11am – 3pm) and now has developed an expanded online shop. Lectionaries, candles, cards, gifts, Fairtrade produce, and an excellent selection of books, Bibles, prayer resources and much more! And the ever-popular Refectory has reopened with an extended outdoor seating area. Come over the summer for a grand day out! All details on www.southwellminster.org.uk

The Church in Burundi responds to COVID-19 with prayer and purpose

Rosemary Cottingham of St Mark's, Woodthorpe writes:

Over recent months we have seen nations in lockdown, hospitals around the world struggling to cope, shocking statistics of deaths, the melt down of economies, and huge numbers of people both young and old facing a very uncertain future. Throw extreme poverty into the mix and another dimension to the devastating impact of coronavirus is added.

Among the poorest countries of the world Burundi already faces huge challenges. In many areas people live with a lack of water, food and healthcare. Some remain displaced as a result of civil unrest. Many live with underlying health issues such as malnutrition, HIV and malaria and children continue to die from preventable childhood diseases. A dramatic increase in the rate of COVID-19 infection would have a devastating impact on the country.

The Province of the Anglican Church of Burundi reported recently that several dioceses towards the south of the country have already joined initiatives seeking to prevent the spread of coronavirus in the communities they serve.

In collaboration with Christian Aid Burundi training sessions about COVID-19 prevention for Church and community leaders are taking place, hand washing kits are being distributed for use in households and meeting places, and some health centres and schools have been supplied with hygiene kits to be used when people gather.

It is challenging work because many of the measures people are being asked to implement are profoundly countercultural where life revolves around large extended families and communal living.

Through a variety of media the Church is urging people to follow instructions from the government concerning COVID-19 prevention and contributing resources as they become available. Some parishes have redesigned their programmes enabling worship and activities that respect regular hand washing using clean water and soap as well as social distancing.

As in many places around the world the virus threatens to push people deeper into poverty as jobs, education, income-generating projects, and access to food are affected. The Church is particularly concerned to support vulnerable people including orphans, returnees, the elderly, widows, and people living with disabilities.

To quote Christian Aid, "Coronavirus impacts all of us. Love unites us all". At this time love surely compels us to stand together in prayer with and for our family, friends and neighbours near and far.
